NEGRO WOMAN FOUND DEAD—HUSBAND HELD ON SUSPICION.

Mrs. Lillie Hunter, colored, aged 25 years, was found dead at her home in Clayville, last night, with a bullet wound over her heart. The appearance indicates murder.

The woman's husband, Eph Hunter, came up town and told the police that he went to supper and found his wife dead. The officers went to the scene, taking Hunter with them. Upon investigation they found the woman on the floor dead and a revolver with one cartridge exploded, lying under a chair near by. Hunter's actions was so suspicious that, after a vigorous questioning, he was placed under arrest and taken to jail. Hunter protested his innocence, saying it was a case of suicide.

An autopsy was held on the woman's body last night. Coroner Davis will hold an inquest to-day when an effort will be made to get at the real facts.

Several neighbors of the Hunters claim to have heard the shot, and saw some man leave the house shortly afterward, but could not say who he was.

LEBUS SUED ON ALLEGED BURLEY STOCK DEAL.

It has been filed in the Montgomery Circuit Court for $9,000 by M. L. Kirkpatrick, of Cincinnati, and J. W. Glover, of Louisville, against Clarence Lebus, President of the Burley Tobacco Society.

When the Burley Manufacturing Company was organized it was agreed that 10 per cent. of the sales of the farmers who were members of the Burley Society should be held from their sales and stock in the manufacturing concern issued to them.

The plaintiffs in the suit filed allege they purchased the rights from many of the members of stock in the manufacturing concern and sold them to Lebus, to be delivered when the stock was issued. When the plaintiffs secured the stock and tendered it to Lebus they say he declined to pay for it and receive it.

The petition asks that Lebus be compelled to take the stock purchased and pay the plaintiffs for it to the extent of the purchase price agreed upon, $9,000. The suit will be tried at the January term of the Circuit Court.

ENORMOUS SALE OF RED CROSS SEALS.

Reports from almost every State in the Union received at the headquarters of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, in New York, indicate that up to the close of business Saturday night approximately 24,000,000 Red Cross Christmas Seals had been sold, and that the sale for the year would reach 25,000,000. Last year's sales was 44,000,000.

KING McNAMARA IS PAROLED FROM PRISON.

The State Prison Commission has paroled J. H. "King" McNamara, of Lexington, who was serving a five-year sentence at Frankfort, for manslaughter. McNamara killed Jake Keller, of Lexington, over fifteen years ago.

After the murder he escaped and was at large until about three years ago, when he was captured in Louisville and returned to Lexington for trial. He has served over two years of his sentence. The parole was approved by Governor McCreary.

"King" McNamara, as he was known, met Jacob Keller on the streets of Lexington on a night in February, 1899, and shot him to death. He made his escape and for thirteen years was at liberty. Two years ago he was arrested in Louisville, where he had been living for some years, by Sheriff Dan W. Scott and taken to Lexington for trial. He was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary.

ANTI-FIREWORKS ORDINANCE TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED.

Discharging fireworks on the streets of this city is prohibited by a city ordinance, and Mayor J. T. Hinton will again issue strict orders to the police department for its strict enforcement during the Christmas and New Year's holidays.

The practice of shooting torpedoes and fireworks on the streets is a dangerous one, dangerous to life and limb, and when the ordinance was passed by the City Council it was intended as a means of protection for pedestrians.

Horses are very likely to scare at the sudden discharge of fireworks, and runaways would endanger the lives of perhaps a score of persons in the streets. Aside from this there is grave danger of the explosives inflicting serious injuries to persons on the sidewalks.

A violation of this city ordinance is punishable by a fine and Mayor Hinton will issue the usual warning that the practice will not be tolerated.

NEGROES SUSPECTED OF ROBBERY PLACED IN JAIL.

Jim Tate and Virginia McFenney, two negro men, claiming to have come from Louisville, were arrested yesterday and placed in jail in Paris, on a warrant sworn out by a Mr. Gravitt, living on the Penn place near Hutchison. The men were accused of stealing $900 in currency, which had been received by Mr. Gravitt last Friday. His daughter had been counting the money, and heard a noise on the porch. Hurriedly hiding the money she made a search and claims she recognized the two men spying on her. A ladder was afterward found resting against the porch, and it is supposed the men used this in making their way to the room from which the money disappeared. The men had been at work on the place cutting wood. None of money was found on them although they were searched at the jail, and it was the presumption that they had secreted it somewhere around the farm, hoping to secure it at a favorable opportunity.

HANDS "COL." SPEAKES. A REAL NICE BOQUET

The Winchester Daily Sun, in a recent issue, published a fine half-tone likeness of "Col." George D. Speakes, the "silver-voiced auctioneer" of this city, and follows it with the accompanying bouquet:

"The above likeness is that of 'Col.' George D. Speakes, a member of the real estate firm of Harris & Speakes, of Paris, who is one of the most widely-known auctioneers in Central Kentucky. 'Col.' Speakes has a wide acquaintance in this section of the State, where he has been engaged in auctioneering for a number of years. During his career he has sold more city real estate and farm lands than any other auctioneer in this section and his services are always in demand."

KENTUCKY ASSOCIATION ELECT DIRECTORS AND OFFICERS

The Kentucky Association stockholders at their annual meeting in Lexington, Saturday, selected Messrs. Catesby Woodford, O. H. Chenault, G. D. Wilson, Johnson N. Camden, Hal Price Headley, R. L. Baker, T. C. McDowell, Matt. J. Winn and Allen B. Gallaher as Directors, all having been re-elected. These Directors in turn re-elected Mr. Catesby Woodford, of Paris, as president; O. H. Chenault, vice-president, and G. D. Wilson, secretary.

Secretary Wilson reported to the stockholders that $21,000 had been expended in improvements this year, making $116,000 since the purchase of the plant from the estate of the late Capt. S. S. Brown. It was voted to double the stock, if it can be legally done, inasmuch as it is considered that the improvements belong to the stockholders and that they were made instead of declaring dividends. The dividend this year was ten per cent. but there were several years in which no dividends were declared.

THE TOBACCO MARKETS.

Record of Sales at Local House Shows Better Bidding and Good Prospect.

Prices paid at the local warehouse have continued to grow better, and Saturday the feeling was far better than at any time during the present season. As The News has repeatedly stated, badly handled or house-burned tobacco is not going to bring fancy prices, and there is no use to expect it.

While the market has moved off slowly, yet, when the general condition of money matters is considered—when it is almost impossible to raise a dollar—the conditions are not near so discouraging as they might be. Business in all lines, has been almost completely paralyzed, and not until the last few weeks have the clouds begun to disappear. Under these conditions, and the fact that prices on the local breaks continue to climb, the outlook is very encouraging, indeed.

The Bourbon Tobacco Warehouse Company sold Saturday 109,005 pounds of tobacco for $8,704.46 an average of $7.98. This was by far the poorest offering ever sold over the floors, row after row being the poorest sort of damaged, weather-beaten tobacco, some of which was cured on the scaffolds. Tobacco of quality and color was quite a bit stronger. Especially was this noticeable on flyings, which were taken eagerly when they showed color. Some crop averages follows:

W. A. Thomason & Mack, 1,095 pounds for $99.44, an average of $9.87; J. C. Booth & Rash, 2,135 pounds for $220.76, and average of $10.33; R. M. Thompson & Frazer, 1,935 pounds for $211.85, an average of $10.94; Burke, Brent & Napier, 5,900 pounds for $572.62, average $9.70; R. D. Worthington & Son, 2,035 pounds for $240.40, average $11.85; J. E. Caldwell, 4,290 pounds for $426.59, average $9.94; Wagner & Feedback, 3,680 pounds for $380, average $10.30; Current Cunningham, 2,640 pounds for $251.65, average, $9.53.

EPIDEMIC CONDITIONS RAPIDLY IMPROVING.

Conditions with reference to the foot and mouth situation are rapidly improving throughout the Blue Grass section of the State and the alarm that has been felt for the safety of cattle and hogs is disappearing. Fat cattle are leaving this section of the State as fast as the Federal inspectors can pass on their condition and fat hogs are going to the market freely.

Monte Fox, of Danville, one of the largest exporters of fat cattle in the Blue Grass when asked regarding the situation, said:

"Two weeks ago the farmers of Central Kentucky were greatly alarmed for fear the disease would spread and their herds of cattle become infected. They felt they were in imminent danger of having their cattle destroyed in order to stamp out the disease and would, as a result, suffer great loss. But all of this has practically changed and since the lifting of the embargo, permitting cattle and hogs to be shipped to outside markets for immediate slaughter, it has been difficult to get cars sufficient to handle the business.

"I was in Chicago this week and but little is heard there of the disease, the stock pens having a full run of cattle, sheep and hogs. I received an order to buy a dozen carloads of cattle for the New York Christmas trade, which I have done, paying $7 to $8 a hundred pounds for the best cattle."

Mr. Fox said that since the embargo was lifted he had shipped out of Central Kentucky more than twenty-five carloads of cattle to the Eastern markets. The cattle are loaded in cars bedded with sawdust, without feed, and the cars sealed. The cattle upon arrival in Pittsburg are watered and fed and proceed to their destination. Mr. Fox said that the situation was greatly improved and that large sums of money were being received by the farmers for their cattle and hogs.

A question from a constituent put Representative Ben Johnson, at Washington, the other day, on a trail which may greatly complicate the foot-and-mouth disease quarantine situation. He discovered in searching the law for Federal slaughter rights as to cattle, that there is only one provision on that subject, and it specifically says that before suspected or diseased animals can be killed, they must be purchased by the Government.

The Federal authorities have been making arrangements all over the country that they will pay half the price of slaughtered cattle if the State will pay half, and there has been no suggestion that the purchase money be paid before slaughter.

OTHER TOBACCO MARKETS.

LEXINGTON MARKET.

Thursday's sales on the Lexington tobacco market were 27,575 pounds at prices ranging from $21.50 a hundred down and at an average price of $23.29 a hundred.

Offerings as a whole were of poorer quality than on any day since the opening of the market, the percentage of good tobacco on the breaks very low.

WINCHESTER MARKET.

At the Planters' Loose Leaf Warehouse, in Winchester, 119,839 pounds of tobacco, including Thursday's sales, have been sold, the amount realized being $10,909.60, at a general average of $23.15.

The amount sold Thursday was 22,365 at $2 to $14.50. H. G. Bush's crop of 2,025 pounds brought $12.20.

FRANKFORT MARKET.

The tobacco sales at Frankfort, Thursday, amounted to 32,573 pounds at an average of $8.41 a hundred. The prices ranged as high as $17 a hundred.

MAYSVILLE MARKET.

Loose leaf tobacco sales at Maysville, Thursday, were light, only three houses reporting. They sold 33,480 pounds. The market was slow and inactive. Prices ranged from $1 to $16 a hundred. The Home house sold 26,070 pounds at an average of $7. The Farmers' house sold 4,010 pounds and the Growers 3,400 pounds.

LOUISVILLE MARKET.

There was another fairly good volume of new tobacco on the Louisville breaks Thursday. All told 100 hogsheads of new tobacco were disposed of at auction—98 burley and 2 dark. The quality of the new was poor, the percentage of color grades being very low. Prices were on a level with Wednesday and generally satisfactory to sellers, rejections being only moderate. The offerings of the burley were readily taken at steady to firm prices. Receipts are increasing and prospects are for good volume of business next week.

SICK HEADACHE.

Sick headache is nearly always caused by disorders of the stomach. Correct them and the periodic attacks of sick headache will appear. Mrs. John Bishop of Roseville, O., writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with indigestion and had sick headache that lasted for two of three days at a time. I doctored and tried a number of remedies but nothing helped me until during one of those sick spells a friend advised me to take Chamberlain's Tablets. This medicine relieved me in a short time." COSTS $40,225,000 A DAY

Russia's Bill for War Is Almost Double That of Any Other Power.

Paris.—The war bill which Europe is meeting daily is now figured up as follows:

Russia	$14,000,000
Germany	7,225,000
France	7,000,000
England	5,000,000
Austria	4,000,000
Various	3,000,000
Total	$40,225,000

The French appropriation is from official figures as announced by M. Ribot, minister of finance; the English estimate by the London Statist; the German total from "an authoritative source" in a Geneva paper, and the other sums from various conservative estimates which have appeared in one place or another. The items "various" represents the probable expense to which Serbia, Belgium and the neutral countries of Switzerland, Italy, Roumania, Turkey, Greece, Holland and Denmark have been put.

This vast total does not include the destruction of property where fighting is taking place nor the wellnigh incalculable losses to Europe of 20,000,000 men under arms being taken from production. There are no indications in France that exhaustion has set in, but it is evident that the accumulated treasure of even the richest country on the continent is being poured out at a rate that adds $200,000,000 a month to the national debt.

Quite close to me I found a first-class scrap going on between two privates, who, ignoring the shells, were settling a dispute in the old English manner. And what do you think the row was about? The respective merits of the Aston Villa and the Queens Park ranges football teams."

WHERE HEROES FELL

Mad Tumult of Death in Man-to-Man Battle.

Writer Gives Graphic Picture of Bayonet Charge—Germans, Scots and Britons Fall Side by Side in Bloody Charge.

In the North of France.—The initial effort of the massed German strength to tear their way through the allies' lines at Ypres and thus drive in the opening wedge by which their sweep of the French coast was to be made possible was broken by one of the most superb and self-sacrificing displays of heroism ever attempted by a body of soldiers.

The attack opened with a terrific cannonade against the British positions. Shells tore in, shrieking and bursting in a mad tumult of death, scarring the British trenches, blasting through bomb-proofs and making an inferno of the allies' position.

Under cover of the furious artillery fire the German columns started to advance at the double. Rank upon rank, regiment upon regiment, they loomed through the smoke held low as a screen by the dense fog that prevailed. The word passed along the British trenches that this was the supreme effort of the German advance.

While the first line was setting itself firm to withstand the shock of the fierce impact they knew was coming, a great wave of Britons boiled up and over the edge of the British ditches. They rolled pell mell down the approach to the trenches and when they scrambled to their feet there were two regiments of them—one Scottish and a regiment of the guards.

They formed quickly, with bayonets fixed, and went down into the center of the gray line of advancing Germans, yelling a battle cry that was blood-stirring. They charged like demons.

The artillery of the allies opened fire behind them to give them cover, but soon they had advanced past the range of safety at which the French gunners might fire without hitting the charging line of Britons.

The Germans came on at a steady tread, in numbers that it seemed must engulf the two lines charging down upon them.

Then came the clash. It was cold steel from the moment they struck. Thrusting, recoiling, parrying, countering and thrusting again, the Scots and the guards fought their men hand-to-hand, giving back before the steady press of Teutons, but fighting all the way.

They fell side by side, the Germans, the Scots and the gallant Britons, those behind trampling them, but still they rose and fought again until the "dressed" German line resembled a mob. Confusion spread through the German ranks. Panic seemed to have seized them, and they "milled," losing all sense of direction, knowing only that a horde of demons had been turned loose in their midst and had made it a man-to-man fight.

The German charge was broken, for no front could extricate itself from such a turmoil. In the face of the trenches, and the Germans were forced to retire to reform.

Reserves were brought up to fill the gap where the brave Scots and the gallant Britons had gone out to their mission of death, and the line again was in a position to hold.

In scattered twos and threes—shattered twos and threes—the Guards and the Scots found their lines. But the two regiments were done. If they had broken the German advance they had given their lives to do it. Not a small company was left of the two regiments.

GERMANS STEAL GUN SECRET

New York.—That the English government has under consideration a device, the invention of Americans, to give shells a rotary motion before they leave the gun and that the secret already has been stolen and sold to Germany and is responsible for the remarkable effectiveness of the 42-centimeter siege guns that reduced the forts at Liege and other cities is the startling story going the rounds of semi-official circles in Washington and New York.

This device, it was said, would do away with rifling inside big guns and greatly lengthen their lives, as it is the wearing out of the rifling that makes large guns useless after 20, 50 or 100 shots.

The story is that the secrets of the invention were stolen and sold to the German general staff at the outset of the great war.

Stops Extortion.

Berlin.—To husband the resources of the empire and prevent extortion when the supplies diminish as an inevitable result of the war, the federal council, or bundesrat, has fixed a scale of maximum prices for all cereals. The price of wheat is highest, with rye next.

They're Not "Coldstreams."

London.—A correspondent writing to one of the papers says:

"Don't talk about 'Coldstreams.' It is quite wrong. They are the 'Coldstream guards' or the 'Coldstreamers.' I had this from one of their officers, and he was very insistent about it."

Bell Telephone Bulletins
12—RECEIVERS OFF THE HOOK
You'd be surprised to know how many telephone receivers are left off the hook every day, not only in residences, but in business offices. Sometimes it is done through carelessness and often by accident.
An extension desk set located on a table or desk is apt to be moved into such a position that the receiver rests on a book or is displaced in some equally simple manner. In homes, children and servants are most frequently responsible for this trouble.
When a receiver is left off the hook and the operator is unable to attract the attention of the subscriber, the "howler" is connected and produces a loud noise. If this fails to cause the subscriber to replace the receiver, the telephone is out of order until an employee can reach the place and put the receiver on the hook.
When your receiver is off the hook no one can call you. The result is annoying to you, to those who wish to telephone you, who are told your telephone is "out of order," and to us.
So, you see, it is rather important to all of us that the receiver remain in place when the telephone is not in use.

EARLY WAR NEWS.

KISER REPORTED IMPROVED.
LONDON, Dec. 11.—Emperor William, of Germany, announcement of whose illness of pneumonia has been followed by various unauthenticated reports that his condition was serious, is said to have improved considerably under care of physicians at Berlin.

DRESDEN SAID TO BE CAUGHT IN CORNER.

BUENOS AIRES, ARGENTINE, December 11.—The German cruiser Dresden, the only warship of Admiral Count Von Spee's squadron to escape after the battle with the British squadron, under command of Admiral Sir Frederick C. D. Sturdee, has been cornered in the Straits of Magellan, according to advices received here.

The naval division commanded by Admiral Sturdee is understood to include nine warships, notably the British battle cruisers Lion and Indefatigable.

THREE SUBMARINES REPORTED TO BE SUNK.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—A dispatch from Dover states that three German submarines, which have been sunk after a heavy fusillade by the land batteries.

The attempted raid on the harbor was made under cover of darkness at 6:30 Thursday morning. Six submarines took part in it.

GERMANS ADVANCE IN RUSSIA.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The reported retreat of the Austrian forces in Serbia, the borders of which country they crossed triumphantly just two weeks ago, together with the steady advance of the German center in the direction of Warsaw on this, the third German invasion of Russian Poland, dominate the war news to-day.

After occupying Lodz, the Germans have been pushing to the northeast toward Warsaw along the railroad, and one dispatch from Petrograd estimates that they are only fifteen miles from the Polish capital, while another message from Petrograd, speculating on the possible fall of Warsaw, warns the Russian people that the abandonment of this city, if such a move becomes necessary, should be regarded as a strategic operation on the part of the Russians rather than a decided German victory.

It will be recalled that a similar vow expressed when the Russians retired from Lodz.

DANIELS SAYS U. S. NAVY IS A STRONG WORLD POWER.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.—For upward of five hours Thursday the House Naval Committee plied Secretary Daniels, of the Navy Department, with questions intended to obtain reasons for his adherence to a two-battleship program and to develop the navy's weakness if, as has been alleged, it is weak in some of its component parts. Admitting that he would favor four battle ships if the revenues of the Government would permit, the Secretary insisted that the continuance of the usual yearly program was keeping the United States in a "strong position" among the naval powers.

The Administration navy program, to which the committee is asked to give its approval, includes two dreadnoughts, six destroyers, eight submarines, one of the sea-going type, one gunboat and one collier.

The Cost of a Telephone Call

Did you ever think how much it costs to give you the telephone right-of-way anywhere, at all times?

Your telephone instrument, which consists of 130 different parts, is only the entrance way to your share of the vast equipment necessary in making a call.

Your line is connected with the great Bell highways, reaching every state in the union—with its poles, copper wire, cross arms and insulators in the country; its underground conduits, manholes, cable vaults and cables in the cities.

You have the use of switchboards costing upwards of $100,000,000. You enjoy the benefits of countless inventions which make possible universal telephone talk.

Your service is safeguarded by large forces of men building, testing and repairing lines. You command at all times the prompt attention of one or more operators.

How can such a costly service be provided at rates so low that all can afford it?

Only by its use upon a share-and-share-alike basis by millions of subscribers, and by the most careful economy in construction and operation. A plant so vast gives opportunity for ruinous extravagance; and judicious economy is as essential to its success as is the cooperative use of the facilities provided.

That the Bell System combines the maximum of usefulness and economy is proved by the fact that in no other land and under no other management has the telephone become such a servant of the masses.

"THE WHITE CHRISTMAS"

The arrangements for the celebration of the "White Christmas" in this city Christmas Eve and Christmas Day have been fully completed and differ very little from the program as previously announced in The News.

The big "community Christmas tree" which will be erected on the public square on Christmas Eve will contain no Christmas presents. A choir of trained voices, picked from the choirs of all the churches, will sing a program of Christmas carols of the olden time, from the steps of the court house. The occasion will be a decided innovation in the manner of celebrating the Christmas tide, and will carry us back, in spirit, to the early English days, when the event was celebrated in like manner.

All the Sunday schools took action Sunday on the matter of providing the gifts agreed upon from their respective classes. The donations will be brought to the schools on Sunday, and will be taken from there to the Grand Opera House on Monday. The promoters of the entertainment have already received donations of flour, money, coal, etc., from a number of public spirited merchants.

A WONDERFUL PICTURE.

INCREASED BUILDING ACTIVITY IS INDICATED FOR SPRING

Increased building activity is indicated for the early spring as a result of the scarcity of desirable rent property in this city. Real estate dealers are experiencing considerable difficulty in securing homes in desirable sections of the city for prospective renters.

The real estate market during the past week was firm, although it did not embrace any large transactions. Investors are beginning to find that offerings will be less numerous. If a disposition is shown to force sales, as only now and then such an opportunity presents itself. Real estate dealers are optimistic and look for an active market following the holidays, both in the city and in the county.

CHILDREN IN RED CROSS SEAL.

Children are among the most eager buyers and enthusiastic sellers of Red Cross Seals. In scores of other cities, such as Cleveland, St. Louis, Milwaukee, Grand Rapids, Detroit, Providence, Wilmington, Harrisburg, Washington and Seattle, the boys and girls are helping to fight tuberculosis with Red Cross Seals. One nine-year-old girl in Duluth last year sold 4,500 seals in four days. A Meriden, Conn., boy of ten sold 50,000 in three weeks. A Wilmington, Del., girl of twelve sold 10,000. Some of the children in Buffalo sold over 1,000 in a week. The schools of St. Louis sold over 250,000 seals, and in other cities they added large sums to the anti-tuberculosis fund.

BIG ATTRACTIONS BOOKED FOR BEN ALI CHRISTMAS.

Manager Charles Scott, informs us that he has booked the Metropolitan Operatic Concert Company for an engagement for Christmas matinee and night. This is one of the most remarkable artistic musical organizations now traveling, and will no doubt draw a big attendance from Paris. Announcement of seat sale and prices will be made later on.

Mr. Scott left Sunday for New York, to arrange for bookings for the latter part of the season, and the opening of next season. He has been given assurances by the New York managers of some excellent attractions for the Ben Ali for the opening week in January.

Manager Scott also announces that he has booked as the attraction for New Year's Day the famous musical comedy, "The Quaker Girl." This show, which is considered one of the best musical shows ever put on, was first presented in this country about three years ago, when Ina Claire broke into stardom with this as her vehicle. Clifton Crawford also was in the cast during its first run and a number of other notables. The cast in the company which will appear at the Ben Ali has not been announced, but it will be of the top notch.

AUTO BURNED.

Gus Bishop, a well-known business man of Georgetown, lost his new Reo car by fire while driving from Paris to Lexington, Wednesday night. When nearing the Fayette line one of the lights of the car went out, and while stopped to relight the lamp, the escaping gas set fire to the car, which was ruined. The remains of the machine were hauled to Lexington. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

SOME WINTER WEATHER

The sun took a peep at Paris and vicinity for a few moments yesterday showing his face for the first time in a week. After apparently satisfying himself that everything was going along all right in this section, Old Sol withdrew from sight, and, according to the wise men who think they know all about this weather business he will not show his shining countenance again for some time. These days of gloom and darkness will make us appreciate the sunshine all the more when it does come back.

The first real winter weather of the season visited this section on Sunday morning. Snow began falling early and the early risers were somewhat surprised to be greeted by a heavy snow when they ventured out. The fall of the fleecy stuff continued all through the day. The small boys took advantage of the opportunity to indulge in a real old-time snow battle on Main street in the afternoon, and the merry jingle of sleigh bells tended to enliven an otherwise dull day.

Germans Had Only to Walk In and Take It, But Overnight Delay Cost
Them Victory—Vivid Picture

By FRANCIS M'CULLAGH.
Correspondent Chicago Daily News.
Petrograd, Russia.—The German advance on Warsaw was achieved as a result of that most difficult operation known as a change of front, performed with marvelous speed and efficiency. The transfer of one-fourth of the German army from Belgium to Poland was the least of the difficulties that were overcome. Far greater was the establishment of etrapes (shelters) and lines of communication in hostile territory. The Germans not only overcame these difficulties, but conceived a masterly plan of attacking Warsaw and very nearly carried it to success.

Grand Duke Nicholas expected a German advance from East Prussia eastward on Grodno or southward on Warsaw and had prepared for these movements with General Rennenkampf's army west of Grodno and another army at Kevno. Warsaw was defended on the north by the fortress of Novogeorgievsk and a powerful army.

Attack Comes Through Swamps.
The grand duke did not expect an attack from the south, where there are swamps, the worst wagon roads in Europe and few railways. But it was from the south that General von Morgen came.

In all there were four German groups. One, from Thorn, bombarded Plotsk, but retreated, this being only a demonstration. Two groups advanced from Kalisz and Chensokhov and, uniting at Skiernevitzy, moved on Warsaw with blinding rapidity. The fourth group, from Cracow, attacked Radom and then Ivangorod, where the object was to cross the Vistula, thus outflanking the Russian army at Warsaw and compelling its retreat.

The whole Austro-German battle front was 462 miles in length, extending from the Baltic to the Carpathians and therefore the battle of the Vistula in the middle of October was in some respects the greatest ever fought. I confine myself to a description of what I saw with my own eyes.

Had Only to Walk In.
Warsaw was absolutely lost on the evening of October 11. The Germans had only to walk in and take it. But they delayed, probably waiting for the fourth German force to cross at Ivangorod.

Next day the Russians had more troops, and within a week they had ten corps, or 400,000 men, south of Warsaw, and as General von Morgen's force was threatened from both flanks, he fell back October 20, with amazing skill and rapidity.

I was able to see all the fighting on the extreme front because of my friendship with Russian officers formed during the Manchurian war. From the station of Prushkov, six miles south of Warsaw, I traveled the whole Russian line. The Germans were driven from Prushkov a few hours before my visit, but fighting continued on the outskirts.

Great Trees Hurled Aloft.
I crossed the fields to Sokoloff amid a frightful bombardment. I saw one big German shell alight under the gnarled roots of an old oak tree. When the smoke cleared away this tree was lodged in the branches of some other trees close by. It had been torn up by the roots and shot upward hundreds of feet with terrific velocity.

The curious effect of these monstrous shells passing close to one's head is that they produce nervous collapse, deafness, numbness and frequent insanity. I personally helped to the rear a dozen soldiers thus afflicted. More dreadful sights I never saw. Now there are two hospitals in Petrograd and Moscow for such soldiers with more than one thousand patients in each.

This frightful bombardment drove me into the cellar of a factory, where I found two men and several women and children, who had been there three days, not daring to emerge even to get a drink of water from the pump only a few yards from the opening of the cellar. They told me that the bombardment had continued day and night, and in proof of their wisdom in not venturing out they pointed to the bodies of three men and a child lying in the factory yard.

Germans in Solid Mass.
When darkness fell I bolted out again and soon took refuge again in the house of a Polish gentleman, who invited me to sleep in his house for the night. I slept on a sofa, but in the small hours of the morning I was awakened by a shell which shook every window frame in the house. My host and his family soon appeared saying that the servants had all fled. I decided to depart also, but was pre-

NAT GOODWIN AS LOVER.

Nat Goodwin's much talked of book is an amusing reference to an experience in Paris. For the last year so the author has allowed bits of it to leak out and be quoted in the newspapers.

An excerpt from the New York Sun of the following account of Goodwin's Paris experience:

"A long, long time ago, while I was playing in Paris (Kentucky) a party of ladies and gentlemen came down from Mt. Sterling to witness our performance, thinking they could leave Paris and get to Lexington the same evening. Unfortunately, the railroad had changed its schedule and there was no train out until the following morning. My private car was waiting for me and I had taken the precaution to charter an engine to take me back to Lexington after the performance. When I arrived at the station I found the party very much disturbed at the prospect of having to remain in Paris over night.

"I sent my secretary to them and he placed my car at their disposal. He told them that there was a nice supper prepared and that they were welcome to whatever the chef could furnish. I would remain in my state-room and not interfere with their party. They accepted the invitation, but insisted that I join their party, which consisted of three men and three women.

"One young lady in particular attracted my attention with her radiant beauty. She was a magnificent creature, blonde and erect, possessing the complexion given only to those living in the Bluegrass country. During the journey I had little time to talk with her, as one of the other young ladies, who came from Boston, usurped all my time discussing the drama and other topics equally uninteresting to me.

"After leaving Paris I corresponded with her for some little time. Finally I heard that her parents were objecting and I told her that we must discontinue our correspondence. She refused to act upon my advice and insisted upon communicating with me once or twice a week. I answered her letters, with the result that we became engaged. But my friend Fate again came upon the scene and exercised his authority.

"I left 'The Rivals' tour with a heavy heart, for several reasons. I had signed a contract for a sixteen weeks' tour in Australia. Many wondered why. I sent out the rumor that it was to see the country and to further my artistic desires.

"The real reason? I was running away from a woman.

Mr. T. Philip Terry, the author of "Terry's Mexico," has just returned from a trip through Mexico, where he found conditions almost as chaotic as they are in Europe. Trade is dead, railway, postal and highway communications are interrupted; the vanished silver coins have been replaced by freely counterfeit paper money issued by several of the warring factions and purchasable at 5 pesos for one American dollar; and a fatalistic hopelessness and apathy have taken possession of the people. A settlement of the difficulty seems very remote. It is believed that the selfish personal aims of the incompetent rebel chiefs, and the looting proclivities of their followers, will prolong the struggle until some strong pressure is brought to bear from without.

Mr. Terry, who is a native of Paris, (Ky.), and who has strong convictions on the subject of Kentucky hospitality, just now is not so sure of his ground in this respect. At Nogales, Arizona, a frontier town astride the Mexican line, he lodged with some friends who, when the time came to leave, insisted upon taking him to the train in their motor car. Before this train was reached they had traveled over 97 miles of the wonderland which stretches through the canyons and across the splendid Arizona mesas to Tucson—a veritable painted desert replete with charm and possessed of unsurpassed anywhere. His friends did not get back to their home until one o'clock in the morning, and Mr. Terry is still wondering if this is not something of a record in the art of speeding the parting guest.

SOME HOPEFUL.

"The Boob is the greatest optimist I know of," remarked the Wise Guy. "That's right," agreed the Grouch. "Way, he even hunts for the pork in a can of pork and beans."

"When some other man's wife does anything, a man will say: 'How wonderful!' And when his own wife does anything he will say: 'That's just like a woman!' And there's a awful difference between the two statements."

CHRISTMAS DON'T'S

Don't waste time in buying haphazard.
Don't let impulse lead you to choose inferior articles or to pay high prices.
Shop early—early in the morning, if possible, and plan your Christmas lists in advance.
Sit down with the Bourbon News in your hand, run your eye over the advertising pages and make your plans accordingly. The advertising will not only give you many splendid suggestions, but it will also post you as to the best place to buy—among the News' advertisers—the home folks.

STEED AS EAGER FOR BATTLE AS IS HIS RIDER.

Also Knows the Call of the Bugle, in Many Cases Better Than the Soldier Who Is Supposed to Guide Him Into Action.

It will probably surprise the public, said a retired colonel of hussars, to learn that a cavalry horse usually enjoys a battle at least as much as his rider, and displays as much courage in it. He will chafe and stamp with impatience while waiting for the order to charge, and at the signal will dash forward like a greyhound released from the leash, full of fire and fury, and often neighing mildly. At the moment of contact with the enemy he will rear, striking and biting savagely at the opposing horses and trampling down the infantry.

When his rider falls he will dash along with his fellows and crash as gallantly into the foe. In the famous charge of the Light Brigade scores of riderless horses swept down the "valley of death," thundering through the smoke onto the Russian guns, and galloped back to safety with the shattered remnant of the brigade. Five horses raced neck and neck with Lord Alfred Paget, who rode in advance of the line, so eager were they to get at the enemy!

And not only is the well-trained charger as brave as his rider; he is often as intelligent. He knows the bugle calls just as well, and answers them as promptly. In fact, cases are proved in which a horse has put his rider right when he has mistaken an order, and has gone faultlessly through maneuvers in spite of the efforts of his mistaken master to make him do the wrong thing.

No, the process of training is neither long nor difficult. The first step is to accustom the horse to the sound of firing at close quarters. With this object he is put on the ground with legs tied, and while in this position, a pistol is fired close to his ears, over his back, between his legs, and so on, until his fear is overcome. After a few such lessons it is safe to mount him with a bridle furnished with a curb bit, and under this control he is taught to stand still while a pistol or carbine is fired from his back—the latter naturally coming last, as both hands are required in using this weapon.

Then follows saber practice on similar lines, until the horse is as indifferent to the whirl and slash of a sword above his head as to the explosion of a carbine above it. Within a few weeks the horse not only loses all traces of nervousness; he really enjoys the experience and enters enthusiastically into it. In battle the cavalry horse faces even a greater risk of death or disablement than his rider, although the gallant animal rarely gets any of the laurels of war. His danger, however, is by no means so great as it was.

In the eighteenth century 150 horses fell in battle to every 100 men; from 1800 to 1865 the proportion had fallen to 120; and in more recent wars the ratio has been approximately 112 horses to 100 men. In some charges, however, the proportion has been greater, as in that of the Light Brigade, in which 80 more horses than men sacrificed their lives.

But while the war horse seldom gets credit for his prowess and devotion, there have been, happily, a few cases in which he has shared his master's glories—among them Lord Roberts' pretty little Arab, Volonel, who carried him in the famous march from Kabul to Kandahar, and round whose neck, at Queen Victoria's express wish, he hung the Kabul medal, with four clasps.

The Sleeper.

"European sleeping cars are very dear—$20 a berth, in fact—but they afford you the privacy of a bedroom."

The speaker was the well-known comedian, Raymond Hitchcock. He resumed:

"Our sleeping cars, while comfortable enough, afford no privacy. Comfortable as they are, it is very hard to sleep in them."

"I was traveling one night Chicago-ward. The berth above me was occupied by a 300-pound broker. It was impossible to slumber anywhere within a half-mile radius of that broker, and at about two in the morning I climbed up to him, took him by the shoulders, and shook him rudely."

"What do you mean," he growled, 'by waking me out of a sound sleep?'"

"But it's such an ugly sound," said I. "It's such an ugly, horrible sound that we other passengers positively refuse to tolerate it."

Turtle Two Centuries Old.

A huge turtle, weighing 1,175 pounds, was brought to San Diego, Cal., the other day by Capt. J. Zollgehl of the Italian fishing launch Belvedere. The turtle, said by waterfront men to be the largest specimen ever caught in Lower California waters, is nine feet in circumference and seven feet from the tip of its nose to the end of its short tail. The front flippers are four feet in length and almost a foot wide, tapering gradually until at the end they are about five inches wide. The jaws are a solid mass of teeth, over two hundred being located in the upper jaw. They range from one-half to a quarter of an inch in length. The shell is ribbed and in spots pliable, which leads many fishermen to believe that the turtle is nearly two hundred years old.

SAVED BY AN INSPIRATION

In Napoleon's campaign in Russia one of his generals, Philippe de Segur, had a peculiar adventure with a band of Kalmucks. The Kalmucks are wandering tribes of southeastern Russia. They are fierce warriors, and their light cavalry forms an important part of Russian armies. De Segur's presence of mind saved him from being killed by them when the most desperate fighting could not have done so.

The French had attacked a body of Russians and put them to flight, when Segur suddenly discovered that he and a few French dragoons had become separated from the French army and were being carried away with the retreating party.

He and his men were surrounded by a band of Kalmucks. The situation seemed so hopeless that the men gave themselves up and, disregarding his orders, passively allowed themselves to be struck down. De Segur determined to sell his life dearly and continued to fight. A Kalmuck lance struck him from his horse. He jumped to his feet and, getting behind his horse, continued the struggle. It was a hopeless contest, however, and in a few moments he would have been killed had not a happy thought occurred to him.

The Kalmuck leader, a fine-looking Cossack, remained calm while his men were carried away with the fury of battle. The expression on his haughty countenance indicated that he scorned to murder a vanquished foe, and from time to time he called, "Nikale! Nikale!"

De Segur guessed that this was an order to cease fighting. He shouted imperiously to the Kalmucks that surrounded him, "Nikale!"

Immediately the fury died out of their faces and they paused, motionless with astonishment. Their fury once checked, Segur's life was saved by their chief.

He learned afterward that the word meant "Do not strike," and that while the impetuous Kalmucks had not heeded the command of their chief, they were puzzled and disturbed at hearing this word from one whom they supposed to be an enemy.

De Segur was kept a prisoner until a peace between France and Russia was arranged some months later.

Aerial Scouts.

During the present war, the aeroplane has proved very useful in scouting; indeed, the heavier-than-air machine is generally admitted to be superior to the airship for spying out the position of the enemy. The aeroplane is less conspicuous; it is faster; it makes a smaller target; it costs almost nothing to make in comparison with a dirigible balloon, and it can fly at a higher altitude. Sir John French pays a high tribute to the aeroplane scouts in one of his interesting reports on the campaign in France. "One of the features of the campaign on our side has been the success of the Royal Flying corps. In regard to the collection of information, it is impossible to award too much praise to our aviators for the way they have carried out their duties, or to overestimate the value of the intelligence collected, more especially during the recent advances." For the 20 days that ended on September 10, the English aviators averaged nine reconnaissance a day of over a hundred miles each.—Youth's Companion.

Coyote Invades a Home.

Coyotes have been committing many depredations in Crook county, according to a letter from Mrs. Fannie Morris, of Post. One night the family of J. R. Knox was awakened by an unusual noise upstairs. Mrs. Knox went into the yard and could see a coyote tearing and biting at the window of the upstairs room in an effort to get out. Mr. Knox shot the animal.

An investigation showed that it had got into the house through a bedroom window downstairs, the tracks being plain on the bed that it had climbed over. The animal went through several rooms before going upstairs.

Mrs. Morris says that there have been many reports of rabid coyotes in that section, and that few go out after night without being well armed.—Cottage Grove (Oreg.) Dispatch to the Portland Oregonian.

The Gallant Gordons.

Rising, roaring, rushing like the tide, Gay goes the Gordon to a fight—sings the poet of the Gordon Highlanders, who have suffered severely in the fighting in France. To the credit of the regiment stand the capture of the Dargal heights, in the Tirah campaign of 1897, and the rush through the sheet of lead which helped to sweep the Boers off the ridge of Elands-laagte in 1899. In the desperate 26-hour struggle on Waggon Hill the following January when the fate of Ladysmith hung in the balance, the Gordons had their full share of the fighting under the stalwart Miller-Walnut, "a man cast in the mold of a Berserk viking," says Sir A. Conan Doyle. Another Waggon Hill on a small scale there was toward the end of the war, when at Reitz they put up a magnificent and successful defense under terrible punishment against 500 Boers.

THE EDISON HABIT OF WORK

The volumes of laboratory notebooks and suggestions, compiled by Mr. Edison are a library in themselves and yet his memory of past experiments remains keen. In his laboratory amid alcoves of books and myriads of diplomas and honors bestowed upon him from almost every country in the world, Edison keeps right on at work as he did in the early days, insisting that he has only begun to know things now, and he is determined to give to the world the best fruits of his accumulated knowledge in still greater measure.

He continues to take his four to six hours sleep daily, and insists that he is not living for the past, but for today and to-morrow. Keenly interested in every phase of art and life, he is also keeping in touch through astronomy with new things in the skies. He is, nevertheless, full of that irrepressible American humor, ready for a smile or new story, and buoyant boyish ways relaxing so that everyone associated with him has only words of affection for the "old man" whose consideration, patience, kindness and matchless genius is a marvel to those near to him, as well as to those to whom he is only known by fame and works. It does not require long personal acquaintance to obtain the full measure of Thomas Edison's worth.—"Thomas A. Edison and His Triumphs," Joe Mitchell Chapple, in National Magazine for December.

FARMERS' WEEK POULTRY EXHIBIT DECLARED OFF.

Owing to the prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in cattle in different parts of the State and in compliance with the orders of the State and Federal Governments to stamp it out, the big Poultry Show scheduled for Farmers' Week at the Kentucky Experiment Station, Tuesday, January 5, 1915, has been declared off.

That official notice was sent out and is as follows:
Lexington, Ky., Dec. 7, 1914.
"Because of the wide-spread prevalence of the foot and mouth disease in Kentucky and in States which adjoin Kentucky it is deemed wise by the State Poultry Show to declare it off for this year."

"Order number 15, issued by the Kentucky Live Stock Sanitary Board reads as follows:

"The Federal Government and the State are availing themselves of every possible means of confining this disease in Kentucky to local outbreaks. To this end the public markets have been closed until further notice. It is deemed inadvisable to have poultry shows, pet stock shows or animal shows of any nature while this disease is so prevalent."

"It is, therefore, ordered that all poultry shows, pet stock shows and animal shows of every description be abandoned until such time as this disease is eradicated from our State."

"The big poultry meeting will still be held on Tuesday of Farmers' Week, January 5, 1915. Every farmer is invited to come to this meeting. The addresses will be made by practical poultrymen and poultrywomen of great experience."

"J. J. HOPPER, Secretary."

GUN FIRE IS AWFUL

British Officer Describes Deadliness of Artillery.

Tells of Harrowing Experience Facing German Lines to Rescue Wounded Captain—Has Sword Hilt Shot Away.

London.—The awfulness of modern artillery fire is described in a thrilling story told by a British officer just returning from Flanders. He says:

"I took eight men to find out what happened to Captain B. and a platoon who were sent to support the firing line. Three hundred yards out I saw the line of our infantry lying flat on the ground and made toward them."

"I shall never forget traversing those three hundred yards. The German guns, which were only 800 yards away, fired with extreme accuracy. It seemed impossible that my little party could escape. Three were hit almost immediately, but we others kept on and reached the line."

"To my horror I found all dead or wounded except three men, who were keeping perfectly still. I found a subaltern on his knee with one hand resting on the ground just in the attitude of a runner who is waiting for the signal for the start of a race. He was stone dead. A shrapnel bullet had pierced his head. I again crept forward another hundred yards, where I found our firing line under Captain B. They were lying, every man killed or wounded within about four hundred yards of the German guns, which we could not even see."

"In the center a bunch of 25 men lay in a heap, having massed as they advanced for mutual protection. I never have seen such wounds at this short range."

"I found Captain B. still alive with his thigh shattered and another wound in his neck."

"As long as we lay quiet the German guns did not fire, but directly any one moved we got another shell right on top of us."

"I saw that unless Captain B. received speedy attention he would die. I took two rifles and made a stretcher out of a great coat. We carried Captain B. almost to the edge of a wood before the Germans noticed us. Then they opened fire, but we reached cover."

"I got some more volunteers from my platoon and four stretchers, and these brave fellows crawled up to the firing line and carried the others out under heavy fire. Several of the wounded were again hit on the way."

"I was on the extreme right of the line to cut a pack from a man who was badly wounded. I heard a shell coming and instinctively put up my arm to guard my face and tried to throw myself on the ground. But it was too late. I felt a terrific blow, just as if some one had hit me with a giant red hot poker. I was spun around and seemed to go on spinning and then fell to the ground."

"I thought I had been killed, as I felt a violent blow in the abdomen. I then discovered my right arm was broken and useless. It was bleeding freely. I looked at my stomach, where I felt the greatest pain, but to my great relief saw no blood. Then I found the bullet had cut the ring on my belt and carried away the hilt of my sword."

"I lay on the ground a few minutes; then the Germans commenced to shell us again. Finally we reached the field hospital, where we were given morphine, then put in a train with hundreds of other wounded. This is all I know of war, and I have not the least idea whether we won or were beaten on the day I was hit."

German 42-Centimeter Gun Old. The Hague, Holland.—The famous German 42-centimeter gun, which has been reported as a modern invention, appears to have been described in the German magazine Prometheus in 1893. The article at the time gave the weight of the gun and the velocity and effects of the shots and this information was extensively quoted in scientific magazines issued the same year.

HITS BRITISH STAGE FOLK

London.—Many cases of dire poverty are being reported to relief committees from among the classes that depend upon amusements for their livelihood. Small-part actors, stagehands, and others are threatened with starvation. The war has hit the theaters and theater folk of the United Kingdom a hard blow.

Whereas in ordinary times there are 400 companies on the road, there are today fewer than half that number. The darkened streets in London have already resulted in a decision by many managers to give matinees daily and night performances twice weekly, thus reversing the established order of things, and many theaters have been closed. To the high-salaried actor or actress who has saved up for a rainy day the situation is not serious, but the theater employees must have substantial aid at once.

To relieve the situation several movements have been started, among them a plan to have a special variety week at the Women's theater, for which the public has been urged to purchase tickets. Well-known actresses and actors will give their services.

BRITISH TRADE LOSS HEAVY

Imports Decrease $100,850,000 in One Month and Exports $90,100,000—Cotton Suffers.

London.—The effect of the war on British trade is shown in the figures published by the board of trade for the month of October.

Imports decreased $100,850,000 and exports decreased $90,100,000. The principal loss in imports was $27,500,000 on raw cotton from America and $7,500,000 on cotton from Egypt, together with $35,000,000 on manufactured articles. The exports of coal declined $10,000,000 and the exports of manufactured articles declined $67,500,000. Of the last named, cotton yarns made up $26,250,000 and wool yarns $6,250,000.

IN SEVEN BATTLES AT 12

Paris.—The youngest soldier in the war is said to be a Serbian lad named Dragoljub Jelitch. Though only twelve years old, he is said to have already fought in seven engagements. In the last he was wounded.

Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia learned of the boy's prowess and as a reward for valor personally handed little Dragoljub his stripes as corporal, an honor which so pleased the boy that he is itching to be back at the front in the performance of his new duties.

Kitchener's Reply. London.—Kitchener, as is well known, is a man of few words. A journalist tried to interview him a short time ago, and the emergency war minister, with glacial courtesy, announced his usual formula, "Sorry, but I have nothing to say." The newspaper man, moved by a sudden spirit of subtlety, asked the great man for his autograph. He looked at him for a second, and then said: "Young man, go and make your own autograph worth having."

Marriages in England Increase. London.—Notwithstanding the departure of young men to the war, marriages in England and Wales for the quarter ending October 1 were 1.2 per cent greater than the mean rate for the ten preceding quarters.

Wilde's Sons at Front. London.—Both sons of the late Oscar Wilde are serving with the British army.

The eldest son is with the Indian expeditionary force, while the younger one is acting as an interpreter.

THEATRICAL.

Alamo Theatre To-day.

—The film version of "Rip Van Winkle," in which Thomas Jefferson stars, is remarkable for the number of players who spent their lives in the atmosphere of the Jefferson classic. B. A. Rolfe Photo Plays, Inc., who put "Rip Van Winkle" upon the screen, gathered together as many of Joseph Jefferson's players as possible. So in every possible way the atmosphere of the original "Rip Van Winkle" was preserved. Thomas Jefferson, in "Rip Van Winkle," controlled exclusively by the Alamo Film Corporation, is the attraction at the Alamo Theatre to-day and to-night. (adv)

The Columbia To-morrow.

To-morrow will see the first installment of the wonderful serial film story "Zudora," in twenty big episodes, by Daniel Goodman, the first episode of which, "The Mystic Message of the Spotted Collar," will be shown at The Columbia to-morrow, Wednesday, Dec. 16, is distinctively unusual both in conception and in its handling. Altogether it promises to be the most fascinating story to follow. There will be in all twenty episodes, each complete in itself. Every one who has the good fortune to see the opening chapter will want to see all the others in succession, and will be sure to enjoy each one. In that respect "Zudora" is comparable to a series of short stories in which the same characters appear, but at the same time it proceeds like a novel toward the final climax. adv.
